The property lead checklist: 7 places enquiries get lost

And how to close each one — by hand today, or with automation later.

Go through the list with your team. Tick each one that happens in your agency. For each, there's a way to close it by hand this week, and a way to close it with automation. A person on your team stays in charge of price talks, offers and anything uncertain.

- [ ] 1 Evening and night enquiries wait until morning

Lead ads keep running after your office closes. By the next morning the buyer may have messaged other agencies.

CLOSE IT BY HAND	CLOSE IT WITH AUTOMATION
Agree who checks WhatsApp in the evening, and send a short holding reply.	A first reply on WhatsApp in Bengali or English, designed to go out when the enquiry arrives, then hand over to an agent.

- [ ] 2 "What's the price?" — and then silence

Many enquiries stop after the first price question because nobody asks anything back.

CLOSE IT BY HAND	CLOSE IT WITH AUTOMATION
Reply with the price range from your approved listing, plus one question: area, budget or timing.	An assistant designed to answer from your approved listing information and ask one qualifying question. Price talks go to an agent.

- [ ] 3 Leads live in five agents' phones

When leads sit in personal chats, nobody can see who was called, and leads disappear when an agent leaves.

CLOSE IT BY HAND	CLOSE IT WITH AUTOMATION
One shared sheet: name, phone, source, assigned agent, last contact.	Each lead logged in your CRM or a Google Sheet, with the assigned agent alerted.

- [ ] 4 Nobody asks the qualifying questions

Agents spend the same time on a serious buyer and on someone just browsing.

CLOSE IT BY HAND	CLOSE IT WITH AUTOMATION
Write down the three questions that tell you a lead is serious and ask them first.	Designed to ask budget, area and timing on WhatsApp and mark the lead hot, warm or cold using rules you approve.

- [ ] 5 Booking a viewing takes ten messages

Back-and-forth over dates loses momentum, and some buyers give up.

CLOSE IT BY HAND	CLOSE IT WITH AUTOMATION
Keep viewing slots in one shared calendar and offer two or three options in one message.	Designed to offer real slots from your calendar, confirm the booking and send a reminder before the visit.

☐ 6 No follow-up after the first chat

Buyers who go quiet are often still looking, but nobody follows up a second time.

CLOSE IT BY HAND
Set a follow-up rule, e.g. day 2 and day 5, and track it in the shared sheet.

CLOSE IT WITH AUTOMATION
Timed follow-ups designed to stop as soon as the lead replies or books.

☐ 7 You can't tell which ad brought the buyer who closed

Without the source on each lead, ad money goes to campaigns that look busy but don't sell.

CLOSE IT BY HAND
Ask "Where did you see us?" and record the answer on each lead.

CLOSE IT WITH AUTOMATION
The source (ad, form, portal, WhatsApp) saved on each lead automatically, so you can compare them monthly.

> Typical things agencies tell us. Your situation may differ, which is what the free call is for.

What your ticks mean

0–1 ticks	Your process is in good shape. Fix the one gap by hand.
2–3 ticks	Start with one lead source connected to an automatic WhatsApp reply and a shared lead log (gaps 1, 3).
4 or more	A full lead-to-viewing system is worth a look: reply, qualify, log, book and follow up (gaps 1–7).

Want a second opinion on your ticks?

Book a free 30-minute consultation. Show us how enquiries reach your team today, and we'll tell you honestly what to fix first, by hand or with automation.

byteflowailabs.com/contact
hello@byteflowailabs.com